

COMPANY PROFILE

In 2007 CHEMSERVICE entered the market to serve the chemical industry and the value chain of the chemical industry – from substance producers to users, converters, article producers, OEMs and retailers. Furthermore, the company was established to help companies with the implementation of REACH and to offer non-EU manufacturers the “Only Representative” solution, as an easy way into the EU.

We have outstanding experience in regulatory affairs and international chemical control legislation, including toxicology, risk assessments and environmental sciences. Our substantial network in and knowledge of EU industry, academia, EU bodies and governments will be beneficial to solve clients' regulatory issues. We consider ourselves to be a strategic partner for identifying opportunities to gain competitive advantage through the regulatory process, including the REACH implementation.

Together with our network of cooperation partners we can offer all disciplines - from science to regulatory affairs and law consultancy - needed to successfully support your REACH implementation in an effective and efficient way. Overall, our network comprises of more than 50 experts.

Recently on the market, CHEMSERVICE was able to acquire prime customers. The reference list includes global OEMs, international chemical manufacturers, distributors and also small & medium sized enterprises, providing insight into the whole value chain.

CHEMSERVICE was established and is owned by Dieter Drohmann – a PhD in Environmental Sciences with close to 20 years experience in international regulatory affairs. Lately, he worked for more than 10 years for a major global polymer additives company, leading the European Regulatory Affairs department over this period. During this time he was actively involved in industry consortia and chemical industry sector groups - like Cefic. Now, he is representing non-EU manufacturers in REACH preconsortia. Moreover, he gave lots of international presentations, wrote articles in books and journals and participated in several REACH implementation groups.

Dr. Drohmann's business partner and co-owner of the company is running for almost 10 years a well established consultancy company in the area of environmental investigations and remediation of contaminated sites. CHEMSERVICE is having full access to the knowledge, expertise and staff.
